I'm going to keep this one short.

Well, we came forth in our heat. Italy was first (that was unexpected by every country), Great Britain was 2nd and the USA was 3rd. I'm not sure what order they came in, but Russia and Denmark were 5th and 6th.

We executed our race plan, and we had a great piece. However it wasn't enough. We have had a few crew meetings since our race, and we all know we can find another level. We have to! Our plan is to keep with our race plan, but attack each stroke and each push we have in place. There is more in us, and we are all confident of that.

Our repackage is Great Britain, Brazil, Israel and Russia (I think...). The big contenders, and the ones we will be needing to keep up with and get ahead of are GBR and Brazil. We know we can do this. We are going to get out ahead in the first 500m, and attack, attack, attack!

Thanks for all the messages and words of encouragement. They mean a lot to me!

I have heard that <http://www.paralympicsport.tv> may not be airing our event live, but it may be on later. However, we race at 5 pm here in Beijing, so 5 am ET (4 am Wpg, and 2 am in Vic).

A good place to find results is <http://results.beijing2008.cn/WRMP/ENG/Schedule/RO.shtml>
